Foreign Student Barbara Von Richter Prefers To Ride A Bicycle But Is Taking Driver Training At Carmel High School

Barbara Von Richter believes that the honorable European custom of bicycle riding for practical purposes—shopping, going to school, trips to the postoffice—could be adopted to great advantage in America, particularly in Carmel.

It just might be a "package" solution to our health problems and our freeway problems, not to mention our parking situation and the gasoline bills.

Monterey College Choir in Concert At Mission Tonight

The Monterey Peninsula College Choir will present its ninth annual Spring Concert at the Carmel Mission at 8:15 o'clock tonight. Dr. Harvey Marshall, chairman of the MPC Music Department will direct the 48 voice chorus. Angie Machado will be the organist, and the choir will also be accompanied by a community orchestra.

This concert, the big event of MPC's choir season is open to the public without charge, and has become an integral part of the college's musical offerings to the community.

The soloists will be Danna Swire, soprano; Carol Brauss, contralto; Benny Loftin, tenor; and Alan Holbert and Bill Savage, baritones. They will participate as soloists during Mozart's Coronation Mass. The program will also include a brass quartet consisting of Gene Bailey, trumpet; Jack Burton, trumpet; Ken Muronaka, french horn; Helen Post, baritone horn; playing Giovanni Gabrieli's Canzone per sonare No. 2, Chaconne, by Francois Couperin.

The Chamber Music Singers will present Cantata Domino, by Leo Hassler and O Bone Jesu, by Giovanni Palestrina. This group includes Donna Stookey, Danna Swire, Marion Chilson, Maryella Kerna, Barbeta Miller, LeOra Earl, Helen Anschell, Carol Brauss, Abigail Landeros.

The entire choir will present Jesu, Priceless Treasure, by Johann Sebastian Bach, and Coronation Mass, by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart.

And it should surely promote more of that wholesome state of mind that comes of exposure to fresh air and sunshine.

Barbara is Carmel High School's only girl member of a group of around eight foreign students this year. She is beginning her second semester as an honor-roll student in the junior class, not on an exchange basis, but as the result of a carte blanche-type invitation extended last summer.

The invitation was from her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Von Richter of Carmel Hills, who returned to their former home in Germany for a visit and called on her in Schweinfurt.

Of Monica, 17; Barbara, 16; Friederike, 15, and Heidi, 14, they enquired, "Who will go back with us to California?"

"I was happy about the idea of a winter without snow," Barbara said, "and I was the logical choice because I had just finished oberrealschule." (This usually includes the courses which prepare a European student for college or an occupation.)

Barbara says she misses her sisters, the ice skating and, of course, the bicycling of Schweinfurt, which is an industrial city on the Main River.

But her compensations have been many. She has been taking driver training (despite her preference for bicycles) and looks forward to getting a license.

Her academic work has included biology, English, Algebra, and U.S. history. She had to study hard at first to maintain her honor standing, because five years of English language study in Germany still hadn't prepared her for under-

Council Reverses Tuesday Decision On Surf Tides Pine

The Carmel City Council last night voted to reconsider removal of a pine tree in a motel driveway at Fifth between Junipero and Mission after granting removal Tuesday afternoon.

Thomas E. May, Health and Safety Commissioner, reversed his permissive vote of the previous day, saying that he preferred to see a forest service report on the tree before allowing it to be cut down. There had been argument as to whether the tree was diseased. The tally was 3-2 for reconsideration, with Police and Lights Commissioner Allen Knight also changing his vote.

Tuesday the council granted permission to remove the tree after denying the measure twice, once unanimously. Gunnar Norberg, Fire and Water Commissioner, cast the only "no" vote in the 4-1 decision.

The petition passed without discussion at the meeting.

Norberg told the Pine Cone Wednesday that he knew of no new factors that justified cutting down the tree. He indicated that he thought the vote reflected "accommodation" of a persevering applicant, not judgment based on new evidence.

Phillip Preble, Carmel real estate man acting for owners of Surf Tides Lodge motel, first asked permission to remove the tree November 20, 1958, contending that it

School Board Seeking Special J. C. Legislation

The Carmel Unified School District Board of Trustees has moved to urge legislation that would form a Peninsula-wide junior college district to be annexed to Hartnell Junior College district.

At a special meeting Wednesday afternoon in Carmel High School, Mrs. Dorothy von Meier offered the unanimously-passed motion.

The action was based on a proposal for legislation suggested by Dr. Drayton Nuttall, state chief of the bureau of school district organization. Superintendent Stuart Mitchell explained the bill to the board.

The proposal, which the board hopes will be supported by Senator Fred Farr of Carmel and Assemblyman Alan Pattee of Corral de Tierra, has two parts.

The first would provide for annexation of one junior college district to another. The Education Code of California does not provide for this.

The second would allow formation of a Peninsula-wide junior college district with two unified and one high school districts. The latter district now includes Monterey Peninsula College.

The election forming the new district would require that it be annexed to Hartnell, which in-

Junior Jennie Hill Chosen AFS Student From Carmel High

Last week Jennie Hill, junior class student at Carmel High School, learned she had been chosen to go abroad this summer as an American Field Service foreign exchange student. She was picked by the AFS New York office from four Carmel students, all juniors, nominated by the local AFS selection committee composed of townspeople, faculty members and students. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hill.

As yet the AFS organization has not told Jennie in what country she will spend the summer months representing American youth. Last year's AFS exchange student from Carmel High, Polly Gann, went to Sweden. Other students from Carmel in the AFS program have lived with foreign families in Germany, France, Spain and Turkey.

Jennie had to state in her AFS scholarship application that she would go wherever the organization wishes to send her. "I hope it's where there's lots of music," she says.

American AFS students, high school juniors from all over the country, travel abroad together on chartered ships. During the voyage they are briefed on the language and customs of the country where they will live as a member of a family. They are all juniors be-

Arts Commission Frames Lease Hangs Portrait

Carmel arts commissioners yesterday afternoon recommended to the city council new requirements for use of the city-owned Forest Theater; decided to frame and hang above the council platform a city-owned portrait of the late John Catlin, Mayor of Carmel from 1931-33, at commissioners' personal expense; and voted to include outside artists' work, if possible, in an Arts Festival tentatively planned for 1960. They also discussed Chairman Maxine Albro's suggestion that an area arts council be formed and recommended conditions of a new lease of the basement premises of the Forest Theater to the Forest Theater Guild.

Rules for use of the Forest Theater recommended by arts commissioners are that applicants must deposit $25 with the city when they apply for use of Forest Theater premises. Cost of gas and electricity during use of the Forest Theater by the applicant and ex-

Council Balks At Second Go Over Fenton Gas Pump

The City Council last night declined to reopen hearings on the Carmel Fenton Plaza controversy requested in a petition by Mrs. Harriet Roberts and Lady Claude Kinnoull.

At a regular meeting in City Hall the council voted unanimously to reject the petition which asked for reconsideration of the February 17 decision that gas pumps could not be included in an underground parking lot in the Plaza.

The petitioners originally fought for exclusion of the pumps, contending they were against city zoning laws. The council agreed and voted against the pumps. Plans for the parking lot were dropped.

Last night's petition declared that Mrs. Roberts and Lady Kinnoull felt they had been misinformed on the matter and wanted a rehearing.

A. W. Clark, speaking for Leslie Fenton, owner of the controversial block, asked for a rehearing but added that he was not prepared to argue the issue last night.

Contrary petitions submitted by the Citizens Committee and Fred Leidig asked that the issue not be reopened on grounds that no new evidence was being offered.

Mayor Chitwood reiterated his stand in favor of the gas pumps but said he did not think the Roberts and Kinnoull petition showed sufficient reason for a rehearing.

The council also continued for further study a proposal by Fire and Water Commissioner Gunnar Norberg that the city ask the County Board of Supervisors to reconsider its agreement with the state on Hatton Canyon Freeway project.

Norberg asserted that the council should specify preference for a divided highway from Carmel's

Carpenter street entrance south through Hatton Canyon to the Carmel River instead of a freeway as declared by the state.

The county and state have agreed on the project, Norberg said, but the city has not yet been signed. Under a paragraph in the original county-state agreement, the issue may be opened for more public debate, Norberg pointed out.

Mayor Chitwood expressed concern about whether the council might be challenging the "good faith" of state officials with such a resolution. He favored a freeway, saying it would better absorb future high-speed traffic and that this was also the state's contention.

However, the consensus was that the proposal merited further study. Norberg said he would bring up the issue again at the next regular meeting.

The council then passed a resolution putting the city on record against inclusion of the section of Highway 1 south of Carmel River to San Simeon in the state freeway master plan.

Assessment district proceedings were tabled on three street projects. The city granted 60 days for property owners to submit funds for cooperative improvement of streets. The requests were made

LITTLE LEAGUE TEAMS SET FOR BANNER SEASON

With tryout sessions out of the way and new players assigned to the major league teams, the Carmel Little League squads are settling down to regular workouts in preparation for the league opener on April 27. When Umpire-in-Chief Howard Baxter gives the word for play to start on opening day there will be lots of new faces on the teams but the same objectives will prevail throughout the league—equal competition, good sportsmanship, and wholesome participation for all the youngsters in the Little League program. Under the professional guidance of Player Agent Ed Bauman, team managers met in executive session this week and bartered for the rookies who showed Little League promise during the tryout sessions.

The 1959 Little League teams will have a good nucleus of veterans on each roster with some promising talent coming up through the ranks to replace the graduating Little Leaguers. Besides the six major league teams there will be seven farm clubs operating on a regular schedule to give all Little League aspirants a chance to play ball.

Boys' Town, 1958 Little League Champions, will put up a defense of its title under the guidance of George Macy and Gene Bray with a roster embracing new players Richard Oleson, Tom Verser, Mike Bray, Lyn Beckley, and Gerald Pullen. Veterans returning for further duty with Boys' Town are Mike Paul, Tom Leutzinger, Steve Trapkus, Andre Pashin, Maynard Petersen, Harold Williams, Clinton Macy, and Mark Snopkowski.

Managers Don Canham and Bob Laugenour of the Turner & McEldowney club will greet newcomers Scott Beard, Ring Guy, Ricky Navarrette, and Brian McEldowney together with old timers Ronnie Berry, Dick Wise, Dick Wilkerson, Jerry Oleson, Doug Rodda, Mike Beard, Don Blanks, Lawson Little, and John Ruskell. San Carlos Agency, 1957 Champs, will go with new prospects Larry Little, Jim Sparolini, Joe Stevens, Tim Templeton, Eric Low, and Mike Faber. Managers Jack Miller and Bob Moffett also have a good nucleus of returning veterans with Bob Moffett, Mat Little, Jeff Zils, Ed Brown, John Aitken, Craig Cunningham, and Bucky Bucquet.

Sport Shop Managers Lew McCreery and Newt Goodrich have signed on rookies Ron Mumford, Pete McArthur, Mel Grimes, Rolie Champe, and Lewis Schone to go with vets Howdy King, Craig Harder, Robin Smith, Holly Garcia, Steve Halminski, Larry Thompson, Pat Woolsey, and Tim Petersen.

Pilot Market is well stocked with veteran performers and drew four promising rookies in the player draft. Veterans returning are George Dubets, Mike Newman, Tim Mosolf, Tim Fry, Jeff Knowles, Pat Hall, Vincent DiBiase, Curtis Mitchell, and Ronnie Fukagawa. New prospects chosen by Managers Art Carpenter and Bob Hall are Terry Mosolf, Ronnie Parsons, Mike Halminski, and Mark Gockel.

Wilder and Jones drew a rookie trio of Kim Roberts, Jim Zils, and Ed Kawanakoa to go along with veterans Steve Cate, George Thaler, Joe Fernandez, Greg Jones, Dan Aldrich, Wesley Morris, Dennis Jones, Jack Mahoney, Mike Huchison, and Bobby Green. The Wilder & Jones team is managed by Jack Cate and Art Harber.

Little League President Bill Woolsey has openings in the farm team organization for two assistant managers who would like to help Don Nichols with the Derek Rayne club and Bob Laugenour with the Rockets. Baseball enthusiasts interested in helping the sprouts be better ball players are asked to call President Bill and talk it over. Farm teams operating this year are Little Sparrows, 1958 Champions, managed by Francis Sparolini and Ray True; Derek Rayne, The Rockets, Whitney's Restaurant, skippered by Newt Goodrich and Dick Rohr; Village Inn under the guidance of Keo Fukagawa and Tony Klepich; Nikko's managed by Ewell Cole; and Special Delivery managed by Maurice Stoney and John Rennels.

Little League play starts Monday, April 27 with Sport Shop and Boys' Town kicking off the action. Games will be played at 6:00 o'clock each week day in the major league with the farm teams taking over for games on Saturdays.

PADRES CLIP SAN LORENZO IN LEAGUE OPENER

A steady five-hit pitching job by Phil O'Shea, plus some fine clutch hitting by catcher Dave Hansen set the stage for Carmel High's win over the San Lorenzo Cougars in opening action of the Coast Counties Athletic League B-division. The Padres edged the visitors, 2 to 1, in a well-played ball game which could have gone either way. It was a scoreless fracas until the bottom of the sixth heat when Carmel rallied for the two winning markers. Back-to-back singles by shortstop Dave Fuller and second baseman Ronnie Faia were followed by a ringing double by catcher Hansen who has been the Padre's most consistent hitter this season. The visiting Cougars warmed up the bases themselves in the top of the seventh as they pushed across one run on three consecutive singles and had the winning runs on the bags when Fuller put out the fire by a sensational fielding play at shortstop. Carmel's classy keystone combination of Fuller and Faia turned in some fine defensive plays including a difficult double play which took the heat off pitcher O'Shea.

In notching his first win of the current season, O'Shea struck out nine San Lorenzo swingers, gave up five hits, and issued four Annie Oakleys. The little righthander showed good zip on his fast ball and his curve ball kept the Cougars fishing for the entire seven innings.

Carmel's jayvees kept pace with their big brothers by clubbing the San Lorenzo jayvees, 8 to 7, as Forrest Cornwall threw a five-hitter at the Little Cougars. Mike Bein and Frank Bucher swung the big willows for the Little Padres, Bein hitting a solid three-for-four and Bucher stroking two-for-three.

More league action on tap for the Padre squads this Friday when they journey to Gonzales for a double-header with the Spartans. Gonzales has been picked by the experts to win the B-division this season and have an all-veteran squad returning for this season's play. Pacific Grove failed to read the press clippings about Gonzales and upset the favorites, 3 to 0, last Friday at the Breaker diamond.

BUD CUNNINGHAM'S DOUBLE BEATS WATSONVILLE

With the score all locked up at 4-4 in the bottom of the seventh inning, sophomore first-baseman Bud Cunningham lashed a booming double off the left field boards to drive in John Draper with the run which gave the Carmel High varsity an upset win over the strong Watsonville Wildcats. The visiting Wildcats, fresh off an upset win over Monterey High last Friday, had knotted the count in the sixth inning as they pushed across three runs on a pair of doubles, a single, and a home run by first-baseman Clement.

Cim Conway started on the mound for the Padres and had a one-hitter working until the disastrous sixth when the Wildcats got to him. Freshman Jim Brown relieved Conway in the sixth and retired the side without further damage. When the Wildcats threatened again in the seventh frame, crafty righthander Phil O'Shea came in to put out the fire and save the win for Brown.

Besides his game-winning double, Cunningham also engineered a perfect squeeze bunt which drove in Carmel's first run. Catcher Dave Hansen continued his torrid hitting streak by blasting a triple which allowed him to score when the outfielder's throw got away from the Wildcat third-baseman. Fine defensive play by shortstop Dave Fuller provided great support for the Padre pitchers and cut off several Watsonville rallies.

While the Big Padres were upsetting the Watsonville varsity the Little Padres were being taken over the bumps by the Wildcat jayvees, 23 to 4, as the plate kept jumping around for the Carmel hurlers. Fifteen free passes to first base was too much of a handicap for the Little Padres who were overmatched against the classy Watsonville crew.

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

Monterey Peninsula College Concert Series continues tomorrow evening with a performance by Milton and Peggy Salkind, duopianists. The talented husband and wife team will play at the Student Union at 8:30 o'clock. The program is free to the public.

Their program includes Sonata in E flat by Clementi. This sonata by Muzio Clementi is one of more than a hundred that he composed, and is unpublished in this country. It was obtained by microfilm from the British Museum. They will also play Brahms' Variations on a theme by Robert Schumann, Op. 23. The third number on their program will be Dance Suite, Op. 29 by Robert Kurka. The composer, well known in California as the young musician who received the 1954 commission awarded by the Musical Arts Society, and subsequently was commissioned by the San Diego Symphony. Prior to his death at the age of 35, he wrote the Dance Suite, Op. 29 for his friends, the Salkinds.

Hindemith's Sonata will be next on the program, and the evening will conclude with Schubert's Fantasy in F minor, Op. 103. This Fantasy is considered one of the masterpieces of piano literature, by a man who is the four hand piano composer par excellence. Franz Schubert was one of the most modest and socially minded of creative artists. He had many friends, and liked to share the keyboard with them. It is for these people that he so lavishly enriched the literature for twenty fingers.

Mr. and Mrs. Salkind have performed with the San Francisco Little Symphony conducted by Gregory Millar, and the San Jose Symphony and Marin Symphony, both conducted by Sandor Salgo.

A cantata by Eric Thiman, twentieth century English composer, and master of melodic choral works, will be presented at All Saints' Episcopal Church at 11:00 o'clock on Sunday morning. Soloists will be Shirley Hubbard, soprano, and Donnelly Fenn, baritone. Assisting the organist, Robert Forbes, and the choir of All Saints', will be a string ensemble consisting of The Reverend H.M.M. Nicholas, first violin; John Ericson, violin; Marie Sale, viola; Louise Friedhof-Vadetsky, cello; and Edward Culver, bass.

Included in this service will be two Sonatas for Strings and Organ: one in F Major by Vivaldi, and one in G Major by Tartini. The public is invited.

In San Francisco, the Black and White Ball in aid of the Symphony Orchestra, Friday evening, is creating a wide spread interest; while on Saturday the fourth and last special concert conducted by Kostelanetz takes place at the Opera House. It is entirely orchestral.

Pat on the back this week to George J. Fortier. He has converted the Dolores Street doorway to his drug store into a planter, backed with redwood, in which stands a small ceramic Franciscan friar amid dwarf cypress and native plants, epitomizing Carmel and the Peninsula.

George W. Hensley, who lives in Bonnie Fir on Monte Verde Street south of Second Avenue, had unexpected visitors last week.

Just before 7:00 o'clock on Tuesday evening there was a knock on his front door, his string of bells beside the door rang. Mr. Hensley answered the summons and found four coons peering at him, two grown, two still growing.

For the next half-hour he fed his visitors peanuts, puzzled how they knew he kept a supply of nuts to distribute every day to eight squirrel friends, and still more puzzled to know how the coons knocked on the door and chimed the bells.

Even Carmel's ips are artistic. Commissioner Ernest Leffingwell showed other forest commissioners last week a section of a small pine branch from which the bark had been removed, exposing feeding tracks of ips, pine engraver beetles.

As these ips chewed their way through the soft wood under the bark, destroying a tree, they created a balanced artistic pattern, a fine wood engraving. We suggest this natural engraving be mounted and presented to the arts commission to be displayed at City Hall. It's a warning to citizens to care for ipsy pines, executed in traditional Carmel artistic style. Do I hear someone say the Citizens Committee will take care of the mounting? Ipse dixit.

Peggy and Rod Dewar proved themselves Charleston champions of the Peninsula on Friday night. At the Punch and Judy Chapter of Children's Home Society Jazz Age party at the Mark Thomas Inn they outdanced other contestants in the Charleston contest. Stamina

C. V. YOUTH CENTER BENEFIT

An assortment of iris from 300 varieties in the garden of Clyde and Beth Hitchcock will be one of three gate prizes on the April 23 Carmel Valley Homes and Gardens Tour, arranged by the Carmel Valley Women's Club to benefit the Carmel Valley Youth Center.

Antique jewelry, lent by valley residents, will be displayed at the Village in Giuseppe's shop.

Guests will find supervised parking near the Mobilgas station at Delfino Place in the Village. Forty station wagons will continuously shuttle tour guests from the parking lot to the homes on display, allowing stops of desired length at each home.

Tea, included in the ticket price, will be served at the John Frey home from 2:30 to 5:00 o'clock when the tour ends. It starts at 11:00 o'clock in the morning.

Besides the Frey home, the homes of Mrs. Henry Potter Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. McDonald and Mrs. F. G. Cruickshank will be open. Tickets may be obtained in Carmel at Pine Inn or Browse Around Music Shop.

Barbara is a glowing 5-foot-6 blonde, suntanned as a beach comb, who has spent her coveted first snow-less winter swimming, playing tennis and bowling, but saving plenty of time for homework.

She would like to graduate from Carmel High next year, then perhaps enter nurse's training.

Easy and interesting to talk with, she has been a Californian long enough to have stored up lots of opinions on everything.

On fashion, she says: "American stores have beautiful clothes, especially shoes, but German teenagers are more fashion-conscious. When dress lengths became an inch, or two shorter, all the girls made the change immediately. Here the high school girls were still wearing skirts long. And when we have a party in Germany, everyone dresses up. They don't here."

On teenage social life: "When

Monterey Founded For The Church And Marketplace

by J. William MacLennan
PART II

Outward bound for Manila the galleons sailed on the southern route, and aided by the westerly trade winds, reached Manila in two months. But as ships in those days were not suited to sail against the wind, galleons returned to Mexico by the Great Circle Route in the North Pacific, where the winds blowing easterly are more favorable and rain could be depended upon to replenish the water barrels. Thus heavily laden with the treasures of the Orient—spices, rugs, jade, jasper, silks, brocades, gold and silver dishes, porcelains, jewelry, fine cottons, rubies, emeralds, sapphires, and pearls from the South Seas—these clumsy galleons set bravely forth each year in May or June after the close of the typhoon season.

They were largely a man's world, for few Spanish women ventured the long hard passage to the Philippines, and the men, returning to their wives and children in Spain or Mexico, left behind other wives and children they had acquired during their sojourn in Manila.

The first part of the voyage, through the Philippine and Ladrone Islands was usually pleasant. Though in the daytime the hot tropic sun beat relentlessly down on the passengers, the nights were balmy and the air was filled with the fragrance of tropical blossoms wafted on gentle breezes from the nearby islands. A happy spirit animated all. Guitars were brought out and the deck resounded with the songs of their homeland. Cocks were pitted against each other and bets ran high. Dances were held, la jota, the contra-danca, the bambas, but the gypsy dances, with the clicking of castanets, and later the hula hulas, with curving arms and swaying hips, brought out the greatest excitement among the spectators as they drank their wine and urged on the dancers to greater abandonment.

But once beyond the Ladroneas, a month out from Manila, a change took place. The heavily laden galleons now met the full force of the Pacific, wallowing in the seas. Often waves swept over the decks, wetting cargo and passengers, and occasionally, galleons were caught by a late typhoon off the coast of Japan and never heard from again. Safely past Japan, the course was directly east. There, in the north Pacific, the cold damp winds chilled the exposed passengers to the bone. And the monotony of the voyage began to tell on everyone. No longer were guitars brought out nor dances held. Some men went insane after gazing day after day for land and seeing only an unchanging horizon. Scurvy broke out, many died. Vermin swarmed over the ship and in the food.

After five months at sea the coast of North America was sighted, usually in the neighborhood of Cape Mendocino, and the galleons put into some sheltered spot for wood and fresh water, and for whatever provisions they could obtain from the Indians, such as: fish, bear meat, rabbits, quail, venison, wild onions, and especially wild fruit — blackberries and huckleberries to cure the scurvy. Sometimes Monterey Bay was chosen, and while repairs were being made on the galleons, the passengers went ashore to amuse themselves, to gather wild berries, and to relax after the hardships of their trans-Pacific crossing. But all too soon it was time to go aboard again for the last leg of the passage, 1000 miles to Acapulco, Mexico, a passage that would require two months if not overtaken by some early winter storm off the coast of California or by freebooters in the Channel Islands. In all the seas no other line of navigation so difficult and so attended with peril and hardships has ever been maintained for the length of time that the Spanish Galleons crossed and recrossed the Pacific.

Because of the hardships involved in these northern voyages, the Council for the Indies, which governed Spain's colonial empire, sent Sebastian Viscaino in 1602 to chart the coast of Alta California, which included California, Arizona, New Mexico, Utah, Nevada, and part of Wyoming, and to locate a suitable place for a port that could serve as a base for the protection of the galleons from freebooters, and where they could be reprovisioned and refitted for the last long leg of their voyage. Viscaino missed San Francisco Bay, probably because its narrow entrance was fog bound when he passed it, and indicated Monterey Bay as the best location. But nothing was done for over a century and a half because of constant warfare in Europe, and it was only the danger of losing Alta California to England or Russia that caused definite steps to be taken to found Monterey.

A Sacred Expedition, the final manifestation of the crusading spirit and sometimes called the Last Crusade, was organized, under the leadership of Portola and Padre Junipero Serra. Portola failed on his first expedition to locate Monterey Bay. He camped for a while at the mouth of the Carmel River while his scouts sought in vain for a passage south along the coast. Provisions gave out, the men grew weak, living largely on gulls and pelicans, and Portola had to sacrifice a few mules to give the men enough strength to start on their long trek back to San Diego.

He returned the next year, 1770, and founded Monterey to serve not only as a base for the protection of the Manila galleons, where they could be reprovisioned and refitted before going on to Acapulco, but also it was planned to build a road from Monterey to Northern Mexico, and in times of danger the galleons could put into Monterey and their cargoes be carried overland to Vera Cruz. As a step in that direction it was decreed in 1773 that all galleons from Manila must put into Monterey Bay before continuing on to Acapulco. But again warfare prevented the carrying out of this plan. The decree was withdrawn, the road was not built, and after the revolt of Spain's American colonies, fewer and fewer galleons crossed the Pacific, none after 1815; the port of

MPVS Entertaining 'Round The World

We know you've been places while traveling before
Where you never quite felt you were inside the door,
So the MPVS, entertaining this spring,
Will open those doors with a welcoming swing!

At the Country Club Wednesday—one until nine—
You'll see other lands, how they live, how they dine;
How they celebrate certain important occasions
With treasures, with music and gay decorations.

From luncheon in London, quite proper, y'know,
To a big Creole kitchen with its warm, spicy glow;
Then up to New England, world-famous for chowder
That isn't prepared from cans, mixes or powder.

We'll see Easter in Russia with its solemn tradition—
And we don't have to wait upon Krushchev's permission!
While in Burma we'll revel in laughter and fun,
Entertained by a puppet show, skillfully done.

In Thailand we'll thrill to their floral creations,
And jewels, handed down over five generations.
Then after a trip to romantic Cathay
We return to a dwelling in Old Monterey.

Now you're practically home, but the first thing you know
You'll be south of the border, in Old Mexico,
Where you'll join in a colorful, joyous Fiesta—
The one day a native forgets his siesta!

You'll see Holland, its rainbow of tulips in bloom—
Be invited to enter a Japanese room;
Then the lure of the West will compete with the East
With the rich, smoky tang of a barbecue feast.

We also think this is an opportune date
To welcome Hawaii, our new

East and West from Hudson Bay, Dr. Arthur A. Allen's Screen Tour lecture will be presented on Monday evening, at Sunset Auditorium at 8:00 o'clock. Among "firsts" in the ornithological field, Dr. Allen has credit for the successful method of raising ruffed grouse, the discovery of the first nest of the coppery-tailed trogon in the United States; and the discovery of the nest, eggs, and young of the bristle-thighed curley in Alaska, the last North American bird to divulge its nesting place. For this he received the Burr award of the National Geographic Society. With Dr. Paul Kellogg he pioneered in the recording of the songs of most of the common birds of North America. The University of Cornell recordings of bird songs produced by these two men are widely used by Audubon Societies, schools, and bird students everywhere.

For the color motion-picture and microphone recordings of songs

sister-state—

In her honor a luau, with all that it means,
Will be one of our warmest and friendliest scenes.

But if you should weary from traveling so fast,
To refresh you there'll be a delightful repast;
While the Fashionettes model their costumes for you
There's another attraction the men will love, too;

It's the jet age exhibit, Pan American's way
To bring you the world of tomorrow, today.
Surely, now your heart's set on a traveling spree,
So how fortunate that's what our door-prize will be!

If you win you'll be off to a glorious start
For a week in Hawaii, our "tour a la carte"—
If you want to stay longer, your fare is still paid,
But the rest of the bills will be yours, I'm afraid.

Isabel Perry Boggess.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

Ruth Galvin Thornburg, Librarian

No new books this week! We are not out of money for books, but we thought we would gang up for National Library Week and put them all out at once for that week. We are going to dig around and try to come up with two or three hundred new books. That may prove to be more wishful thinking, but we are really concentrating on it. And for that week only we shall go back to the beautiful old days when you could fill out cards for the books you wanted to read. There will be one difference, which is that you must fill out the postal cards yourself. We shall be loaded with cards for you, and there is no limit upon how many you may fill out. The only thing is that if you suddenly come up with a whole row of reserve books all at once, we may juggle your name so that they are spaced a little more fairly, which in itself should please you.

National Library Week is April 12 through 18. This year it assumes an international aspect because Canada is joining with this country in the celebration. Wake Up and Read is the Slogan. A proclamation by Governor Brown has made the week official in California. So wake up and read!!

As you may have noticed, we are trying out a noise abatement program of our own by carpeting the stairs. One run of steps is done; another will be done soon. This carpeting is designed for public buildings and is nylon on sponge rubber. To our jangled nerves the first installation has been heaven-sent, and we hope you feel the same way about it. Steps so covered are also more accident free, and we devoutly hope that and calls of the arctic nesting season for Monday night Dr. Allen made expeditions which took him from Hudson Bay, with its famous ptarmigan, golden plovers, godwits, and longspurs, east to Labrador's coastline, with its puffins, guillemots, and red-throated loons, and west to the water labyrinth of the Yukon Delta, with its whistling swans, emperor geese, little brown cranes, and hoary redpolls.

Mary Lindsay-Oliver announces that Miriam Zunsner, artist-violinist of international experience, now member of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra, who recently gave a recital at All Saints' Hall, will teach on Mondays in the DeNeale Morgan Studio on Lincoln at Seventh where Lindsay-Oliver lives and daily teaches students of voice and piano.

Miss Lindsay-Oliver welcomes Miss Zunsner to the Studio since with the growth of symphony orchestras all over the country and the first importance in them of good string players, there is greater need for violin study than for many of the easier instruments that attract young people today. The great composers have written more solo work for violin than any other orchestral instrument and its study is a rewarding experience however ultimately used.

Kentner Concert Review

BY EBEN WHITTLESEY

Last Thursday evening Louis Kentner was the piano soloist for a memorable concert of the Carmel Music Society, a German artist who attained a substantial reputation on the Continent before his comparatively recent appearance in this country. His rather conservative program was received by the Music Society audience with marked enthusiasm. A secure confidence in his own talents and a strong dedication to the interpretative role of the artist characterized Mr. Kentner's playing. There was ample brilliance of technique without any obvious trick of showmanship. On hearing performance of this quality one is reminded that beauty is its own excuse for being, and does not need to be advertised in the market-place or equipped with ingratiating gimmicks. This is in pleasant contrast to some of the younger artists who travel the concert circuits imbued with the conviction that they must woo their audiences with tricks, bright conversational asides and all sorts of flashy program material.

Enscathed on his own special seat, several inches lower than the usual piano bench, the artist reached up to his keyboard in a way that looked awkward, but certainly did not sound as though it involved any strain. The program material was very solid, and with perhaps one exception, of uniformly high musical significance. Two Beethoven works began the evening, the first of these being the Rondeau in C Major, opus 51. It was played with a relaxed and fluid style, full of motion. His manner was expressive, gracious but not affected.

The familiar Sonata Pathétique, Opus 13, was given a dramatic but not showy reading. The artist showed marked concern with tone coloring and structural forms. The slow movement was thoughtful and relaxed but always sustained its interest.

Two Chopin Ballades, those in G Minor and in A Flat, rounded out the first half of the program. The style was free and unselfconscious; one felt that the full dramatic values were observed, but quite without histrionic display. The second of the two seemed to develop fully its romantic potential without being over played. The gradually increasing tempo and intensity of excitement were handled most skillfully. These works are so often made the occasion of dramatic over-emphasis, that it was good to hear the music speak for itself.

After the intermission, the color and tempo of the musical fare was heightened, but not its intellectual content. Brahms Variations on a Theme of Paganini was brilliantly performed in a pleasantly unpretentious manner. The slower variations were particularly appealing. These were followed by two concert studies of Franz Liszt, Forest Murmurs and Dance of the Gnomes. The first was showy and graceful, the second seemed particularly interesting and fresh. Mr. Kentner's reading rendered it somehow less dated than is usually the case with Liszt.

There followed Six Little Rumanian Dances by Bela Bartok, which I found delightful and stimulating. They sparkled and glowed under Kentner's fingers.

The Oriental Fantasy, Islamey by Balakirew, which closed the program, was a little too rich and colorful for my taste. It was a terrific show piece. Too much involvement, too much sound and fury leaves one rather cold. One has the feeling that this sort of playing at the end of a program proves nothing except the artist's great powers of endurance. The criticism goes only to the programming; Mr. Kentner's performance was impeccable. Three encores rewarded our marked enthusiasm.

F. L. Leining

Frederick Lewis Leining died on April 1 in the home which he shared with his sisters, the Misses Laura M. and Agnes G. Leining, on Lobos Street between Second and Third Avenues. He had been in failing health for some time.

Mr. Leining was born in New York City on June 9, 1877. He was associated with the Provident Loan Society of New York for 41 years before he retired as vice president in charge of the financing and loan department. He lived in Great Neck, Long Island, until moving to Carmel nine years ago. His wife, Helen, died in 1937. Mr.

Robert Gray

Robert Gray, a retired mechanical engineer, died on Saturday in a local rest home. He had lived in Carmel for nine years. His home was at Ninth Avenue and Lincoln Street.

Mr. Gray was born in Wayne, Pennsylvania, on April 27, 1884. There are no known survivors.

Graveside funeral services for Mr. Gray were conducted on Monday by the Reverend Lee Sadler in El Carmelo Cemetery.

Leining was a member of All Saints Episcopal Church.

Survivors, other than his sisters in Carmel, are three nieces, Miss Margaret L. Ebeling of Oxford, Ohio, Mrs. Alice M. McFadzean of Minneapolis, Minnesota, and Mrs. Ruth A. McLeod of Indianapolis, Indiana.

Funeral services, conducted by the Reverend David Hill, rector of All Saints' Church, were held on Saturday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Mr. Leining may do so in the form of donations to their favorite charities.

YOU HOME FROM THE BALL GAME!"*

Hundreds of Monterey Peninsula and Watsonville area people, S. F. Giant fans, and a great many others have asked us to change the southbound schedule of the Del Monte so that it would leave San Francisco later in the afternoon. We want our service to fit the needs of the public, and we're happy to change the departure time to 6:25 p.m., almost two and a half hours later than the old schedule.

We hope this new schedule will make it possible for many more of you to use the Del Monte conveniently on your trips to and from San Francisco. Now you'll have nearly eight hours in the city if you're returning the same day, and the new time you'll get home won't be so very late at that.

As we announced recently, the Del Monte is now equipped with modern, air-conditioned Chair Cars—the same kind of cars that are in service on the famous Coast Daylight. Foam-rubber reclining seats make the ride more comfortable than ever, and, of course, the Del Monte has always been the safe, relaxing way to go to the city and back.

Coffee and snack service are available. And the Del Monte will continue to carry its well-known Parlor-Lounge Car (the "Oliver Millet"), especially designed for this service. No increase in present low fares.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

God's goodness and all-power will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon.

Scriptural readings will include these verses from Psalms (103:2, 3): "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: Who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases."

Also emphasizing the harmonious nature of God's creation are selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, including (472:25-30): "That which He creates is good, and He makes all that is made. Therefore the only reality of sin, sickness, or death is the awful fact that unrealities seem real to human, erring belief, until God strips off their disguise. They are not true, because they are not of God."

All Child Cast Gives High-Spirited Cinderella

By Candida

An all-child cast, under the deft direction of Donat Ivanovsky, staged a high-spirited, free and easy first act of Cinderella at the USO on Thursday night. They played to a full house, proving that our juniors have a healthy appetite for live drama, undiminished by what they're fed on those ubiquitous blood-stained screens—and much too rarely satisfied. All five girls delivered it with such un-sagging pace and gusto that their public went home hungry for more of what happened after the put-upon heroine rode off in the convertible pumpkin for a really WANDERful time.

Mr. Ivanovsky, a Russian instructor at the Army Language School, devotes his Saturdays to stagecoaching the young, and has developed what may be defined as the Chekhov-Ivanovsky method for achieving maximum naturalness in interpretations. He believes in a nice wide margin for improvisation, both in words and action, and this Lastex in the characterization results in performances as "inhibitionless" as if they were playing around their own firesides.

Cinderella was appealingly portrayed by 10 year old Terry Garner; the obnoxious sister act, made up of Debbie Tanous and Larissa Hrishko (11 and 12) had plenty of bounce. 13 year old Olga Starow put a really sharp edge on the stepmother, against which the 14

Robert Craft to Conduct 3 Concerts At Ojai Festival

Robert Craft will conduct at the Ojai Music Festival, May 22, 23 and 24, in Ojai Valley, according to Lawrence Morton, artistic director.

Craft is presently appearing at the Osaka Music Festival in Japan. At the Ojai event he will conduct the Ojai Festivals Orchestra in one classical program, one of Baroque music featuring choral works, and a third concert featuring major works of the 20th century.

The opening program of the 1959 event will offer the Paganini Quartet. Highlights of the thirteenth annual program include Natasha Litvin, in a piano recital of works by Schubert, Beethoven, Bartok and Liszt, and a special luncheon and lecture, Music As Poetry Without Words, by Stephen Spender.

Soloists engaged for the festive three-day series of events include Grace-Lynn Martin, soprano; Eva Gustavson, contralto; Robert Oliver, bass; Margery MacKay, mezzo; Richard Robinson, tenor, and Morris Boltuch, trumpet; Dorothy Remsen, harpist.

year old godmother, Shonnie Spicer, shone with particular softness.

This reviewer couldn't stay for the children's ballet which followed, but after seeing Kira (Mrs. Donat) Ivanovsky's high polished production in the Peninsula Civic Ballet, left with longing backward glances.

Town House Pays Tribute To Poet-Pioneer Member

By EUNICE MESSENT

There was an unusual program at the regular Wednesday meeting at Carmel Foundation Town House last week. It was primarily a personal tribute to Mrs. Zora Emeline Curry, a much loved member who died on March 5. But as those who attended to do her honor, listened to a tape recording telling of her youth in a log cabin, of her trek in a covered wagon through Indian Territory from Missouri to Oklahoma, of her memories of gathering wild rose honey, of being sent to the bubbling spring to bring the home-made butter and milk box for her mother, of the log school house her father helped build, of her having to learn to sew, quilt, crochet, and cook when she really wanted to be out with her brother fishing, hunting, breaking horses, climbing fences and wading streams, everyone present felt a poignant sense of having lived history. Here was the personification of the American pioneer.

As a little girl, Mrs. Curry thought the "smartest thing" her father did was to write verses and the "cleverest thing" her brother did was the way he could "whittle wood into any shape he wanted to." She decided that more than anything else she wanted to learn to do these two things.

"Aim high, my Daddy told me when I was very small. Look up and tiptoe if you want to grow real tall. And when you want to travel if you wish to go real far. Build a good strong wagon and hitch it to a star."

All who knew Mrs. Curry realize that she justified her father's sturdy philosophy, for her two greatest delights were driftwood "whittling" and poetry.

Mr. Maurice Mayo read a dozen or more of her verses on Wednesday's program, the most poignant of which was:

A Message to My Friends at Town House

I like to leave a message every time I go away, If only for an hour or so or maybe for a day.

A cheery sort of message telling where I go and why, Just to tell you not to worry if my message means "Goodbye."

Early in the tape recording, Mrs. Curry told about how her first name came about. Her father so adored his new "Little Daughter," as he always called her, that he felt she was everything from A to Z. In trying to decide whether to have her name start with Z or A, he hit upon her name, Zora.

And all who listened to her down-to-earth "Yarn" about her pioneer girlhood felt that the name was prophetic, for within the compass of her life, she was early American history from A to Z.

Which Is Which?

White clouds sail high in the deep blue sky

White waves on the deep blue ocean

I cannot distinguish the line between.

And the whole world seems in motion.

The white foam swift on the wave-crest.
The white clouds swift on high
Is the sky reflecting the ocean? Or the ocean reflecting the sky?

The Poets' Secret

I know the secret of poets. I know why they write as they do
They are telling their heart's deep secrets

When they're writing for me, and you.

A true poet never writes fiction.
A poet can only write truth.

When they write about lovers, in springtime,

They are telling of their own youth.

Then comes the changing to summer. But still the poet will sing
Of the growing of grain and the fruit trees

That they planted when it was spring.

Then they sing a song of the harvest as they rake the hay in the sun

They garner their stores of provisions

'Gainst the time when summer is done.

Then they sing of the hoary winter. With their hair as white as the snow.

But always you hear them singing
Where ever the poets go.

Karl Christian Helser Born

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Helser added a third child to their family on March 26 when their second son, Karl Christian, was born at the Peninsula Community Hospital. His birth weight was seven pounds, six ounces. Kurt, five years old, is his brother and his sister Gretchen is two.

Karl's father is an architect, associated with the Joseph Fratessa general contracting firm. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. R. McFadden and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Helser Sr., all of Portland, Oregon.

Dr. Aurner Thanks MPVS

Dr. Robert Aurner, financial chairman of Carmel Foundation, thanked Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services members at their April 3 meeting for the financial aid MPVS gives to the Foundation each year.

Last year the MPVS benefit for the Foundation paid off Town House mortgage. Other years the benefit funds enabled the Foundation to enlarge its service to older residents of the community, said Dr. Aurner. He praised MPVS for allocating proceeds of their coming April 15, Entertaining 'Round the World benefit to the Foundation.

Girl Scout International Fest

Carmel and Carmel Valley Girl Scouts and Brownies are joining to present an International Festival of songs, dances and displays on Sunday afternoon from 1:00 till 4:00 o'clock at Tularcitos School playground. The festival honors the birthday of Juliette Low, founder of Girl Scouting in the United States.

Carmel girls will represent the countries of Brazil, Japan, France, Germany, Hawaii, Switzerland and Sweden on the program.

Valley girls are presenting Mexican life as their contribution to the afternoon's entertainment. Families and friends of the Scouts and Brownies are invited to attend.

Carmel leaders taking troops to the festival are Mrs. Martin Harvey, Mrs. Shirley Parsons, Mrs. Mrs. Robert Doverspike, Mrs. M. F. Cullen, Mrs. Allan M. Hudson, Mrs. Margaret Johnson, Mrs. Conrad J. Lewis, Mrs. J. H. Oenning, Mrs. Arthur Black, Mrs. Francis Jacoby, Mrs. William H. Rich, Mrs. Loyal T. Wiekhorst, Mrs. William Adams and Mrs. M. Benson.

Valley leaders assisting troops at the Festival are Mrs. R. W. Barnhart, Mrs. J. L. May, Mrs. Alec Drachenfels, Mrs. C. Tracy Williams, Mrs. T. W. Thurston, Mrs. A. Ed Mayfield, Mrs. Victor M. Benson, Mrs. Stanley G. Butryn, Mrs. C. G. Lefler, Mrs. M. Mewhirter, Mrs. G. L. Crow, Mrs. George Pullman, Mrs. Ben Dahle and Miss Ann Hawes.

Co-ordinators of events on the International Festival program are Mrs. R. Barnhart, Mrs. J. S. Carter, Mrs. Ernest G. Gatcombe and Mrs. Cecil G. Runyon.

Nichols Have A Son

Lieutenant Commander and Mrs. Robert Lee Nichols added a son to their family on March 31. He is Robert Lee Jr., born at the Peninsula Community Hospital. Six pounds, ten ounces was his birth weight. Robert Jr.'s sisters are eight-year-old Sandra and three-year-old Deborah.

His grandmother, Mrs. Lucretia Nichols of Xenia, Illinois, is here visiting her new grandson and his sisters and parents. She expects to remain for a month. Robert's father is a naval science student at the Navy Postgraduate School.

Warshawsky In Santa Clara Show

Abel Warshawsky and Pio Junco are local exhibitors in the American Artists' Professional League's annual California exhibition at the De Saisset Gallery, University of Santa Clara. The show opens on May 2 and closes June 1.

Canadian Teacher Visits

Miss Ruth Parke, elementary grade teacher from Montreal, Canada, paid her second visit to Carmel this week. She was on her way back to Montreal after a year in Australia as an exchange teacher.

"It was odd to have Christmas vacation a summer holiday," she remarked of her experiences in the Antipodes. The politeness of Australians particularly impressed her.

Miss Parke was here ten years ago when she was an exchange teacher for a year in British Columbia. She has also spent a year in Great Britain in the exchange teaching program.

Dr. Pearson Bureau Chairman

Chairman of the recently organized speakers bureau of the Central Coast Counties Optometric Society is Dr. Charles Pearson of Carmel. Requests for speakers by organizations in Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Benito Counties may be addressed to him at the Society's office, Box 1168, Monterey.

Subjects covered by bureau speakers include all phases of vision and visual skills, children's vision and the importance of vision to motorists and hunters.

Mrs. Grigsby Represents U.S.O.

Mrs. Fenton Grigsby flew to Washington, D.C. on Tuesday night to attend the council meeting of the national executive board of the U.S.O. as representative from the State of California.

Sessions are being held in the Sheraton Palace Hotel in Washington and plans for U.S.O. work for the coming year will be made, according to Mrs. Grigsby. Executive board members will also visit the White House, hear a speech by the Secretary of Defense, and attend a home breakfast where special guests will be senators from each state and some congressmen. Mrs. Grigsby will be joined by Representative Charles Teague at this function. Harvey Firestone is chairman of the board.

Mrs. Grigsby reports that this U.S.O. area is the largest infantry training center in the United States. Added to infantrymen attending the local U.S.O. are soldiers and sailors from the Army Language School, the Navy Postgraduate School and the Naval Air Facility. Included in activities of this U.S.O. area are 18,000 airmen stationed at Lompoc. Soon double this number of military personnel will be in the area when the United States' largest missile development is in operation at Lompoc. "We send entertainment to all these boys," said Mrs. Grigsby, the day before she left to plan U.S.O. work with representatives from other states in Washington.

Lawyers' Wives Salinas Tour

This morning the Lawyers' Wives of Monterey County toured the Monterey County Superior Courts and Municipal Courts, the Safety Building in Salinas. The County Jail and Public Safety group was received by Superior Court Judges Anthony Brazil and Stanley Lawson, Municipal Court Judges Elmer Machado and James Jeffery, County Sheriff Victor Tibbs and Salinas Police Chief Raymond McIntyre. Hostesses for the tour were Mrs. Brazil, Mrs. Lawson, Mrs. Machado and Mrs. Jeffery.

Luncheon was served to the lawyers' wives at the house of Mrs. William Bryan. Assisting her were Mrs. Michael Panelli, Mrs. Burt Talcott, Mrs. Bertram Young, Mrs. Dan Bardin and Mrs. Robert Tuttle.

Plans for assisting the Monterey County Bar Association in organizing activities for Law Day on May 1 were discussed during the luncheon.

Education Consultant Here

Richard Matteson, professor in the education department of the University of Maryland, spent last week end in Carmel as the guest of his uncle, Richard Lofton, and Mrs. Lofton. He is in California as a consultant for school systems in Visalia, Mojave and Bakersfield. Six months of the year Mr. Matteson teaches at the University of Maryland, spends the other six months traveling to schools which request help with specific problems in child development relating to research done in the education department of the University of Maryland.

Pillsburys Return From Hawaii

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Pillsbury returned to Pebble Beach on Tuesday. They arrived in San Francisco on the Lurline on Monday after a month's stay in Honolulu.

Judges Seven Shows In A Month

Mr. and Mrs. Derek Rayne have been shuttling across the continent by plane during the past month between brief returns to Carmel. Mr. Rayne, during this time, has been a judge for seven dog shows. They were in Louisville, Kentucky; Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Norfolk and Hampton, Virginia; two in Victoria, British Columbia; the California Dachshund Show in San Mateo.

The first week in May the Raynes go to Mexico City where Mrs. Rayne (Elizabeth) will make her debut as a dog show judge. She is the only non-Mexican person to be granted a Mexican dog show judge license. Other foreigners judge Mexican shows as guests, without a Mexican license.

Mr. Rayne will also judge in the Mexico City show and two other dog shows in Mexico, one in Cuernavaca, the other in the colonial town of Puebla. "In Mexico relatives and friends of dog show exhibitors come to shows and applaud loudly for their favorites," Mr. Rayne says. "The first time I judged in Mexico City and a dog received especially loud applause, I thought it was a famous dog," he relates, "later I realized the dog just had the largest group of supporters."

Derek Rayne, chosen Judge of the Year in 1956, has been judging dogs for 20 years. Everyone, everywhere, is discussing this year's Del Monte Dog Show, he reports. It is to be held on May 14. Last year it was fourteenth in size among the 450 dog shows in the United States. From the interest encountered in his trans-continental trips this past month, Mr. Rayne prophesies it will have many more entries this year.

Voters League Meets Thursday

Neptune's Table, on the Monterey Wharf, is the location of the annual meeting of the Monterey Peninsula League of Women Voters, on Thursday afternoon.

In addition to election of officers and adoption of the budget, program planning for the coming year will be discussed.

Mrs. H. T. Stotler, local current agenda chairman, will report on the taxing districts of the Peninsula. Under the League's Unit System, members from the various Peninsula towns have been holding unit meetings to study city government in their towns. Mrs. Stotler will tie in the relationship of the tax districts to the studies of the municipalities.

Lunch will be served at 12:30 o'clock. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Leon Cone at FR 5-1069.

Judy Honor Society Member

Judy Zellhoefer, a student at the University of South Dakota, has been elected to membership in Alpha Lambda Delta, women's freshman scholastic honor society, as one of 27 students to attain a 3.5 grade average for the first semester of this school year. Judy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Zellhoefer of Carmel Highlands, is an elementary education major at the University of South Dakota. She graduated from Carmel High School last June.

Danielle Brasher New Citizen

Commander and Mrs. Ray Brasher have a daughter, Danielle Jeanne. She is their second child. Her brother Michael is 13 years old.

Danielle weighed seven pounds, 14 ounces when she was born at the Peninsula Community Hospital on April 1. Her grandparents are Mrs. Eleanor Richardson, who lives here with her son-in-law and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brasher of Sisco, Texas.

Danielle's father is a pilot at Moffet Field with Air Transport VR Squadron 8. He was stationed here at the Naval Air Facility until last July.

The Brashers continue to make their home in Carmel. "And we hope to retire here, too," says Danielle's mother.

Martin Ernest First Child

Lieutenant Commander and Mrs. E. Bouveron are parents for the first time. Their son Martin Ernest was born at the Peninsula Community Hospital on April 1 with a birth weight of seven pounds, four and one-half ounces.

Before her marriage, Martin's mother was a lieutenant j.g. in the WAVES, stationed at the Navy Postgraduate School. His father is a graduate student studying aeronautical engineering curricula at NPGS.

"We met, married and had our firstborn here," says Mrs. Bouveron.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Martin of Salem, Oregon, and Mrs. O. Denaud of Hermosa Beach are Martin's grandparents.

Cruise Along French Coast

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Hudson and Mr. and Mrs. S. F. B. Morse are planning to meet in Barcelona in May, then on the Morse yacht, the Vilechi, cruise along the French coast for a month. They will leave the yacht in Cannes, visit Nice, Zurich and Vienna before flying home early in July. Mr. and Mrs. Morse leave here on April 24, sail for Barcelona from New York on the Vulcania on May 1.

San Simeon Scholarship Benefit

A trip to San Simeon is being sponsored by the Women's Architectural League on April 29 to benefit the group's scholarship fund.

The tour will leave Monterey at 10 o'clock and Carmel at 10:15 o'clock in the morning. The cost of the trip includes bus transportation, the price of admission to the Hearst Castle, and a box lunch.

On the return trip to Monterey, a stop will be made at Nepenthe where entertainment will be provided. Mrs. Walter Burde, MA 4-3986, or Mrs. Robert L. Nusbaum, FR 5-0297, may be telephoned for reservations and further information.

Return To Manhattan Beach

Mrs. Dick Perkins, her son Sabin, Mrs. Howard Williams and her four children left for their homes in Manhattan Beach today. This past week they have been in Carmel, Mrs. Perkins as the guest of her mother, Mrs. Virginia E. Carr, Mrs. Williams staying with her sister, Mrs. Ann Fry.

Form Carmel Chapter of A.F.A.

Seventeen artists and laymen have activated a Carmel chapter of the American Federation of Arts. This organization fosters the production and cultivates the appreciation of art in this country by a program of traveling exhibitions and lectures in the United States and abroad.

The Carmel chapter hopes to bring shows here from large museums in America, also send out traveling exhibitions of the work of local artists. They also plan to cooperate with activities of other groups, such as the Carmel Arts Commission. Members are welcomed to the local A.F.A. chapter. Anyone desiring to join may so inform the membership committee chairman, Mrs. Beulah Kosty.

A.F.A. chapter officers already elected are Miss Sophie Harpe, chairman; Gene Elmore, secretary; Leonard Heller, treasurer; Miss Frances Harrison, historian; Mrs. Nelly Montague, publicity.

Other members of the new chapter of the American Federation of Arts are Leslie Emery, John Halloran, Mrs. Douglas MacGregor, Mrs. Robert Aurner, Mrs. Steve Crouch, Miss Helen King, Miss Helen Dennecke, Mrs. Kathryn Bradley, Mrs. Marjorie Doolittle, Mrs. Burton Doolittle, Mrs. Gertrude Putnam, Mrs. Elizabeth Jacobs, Mrs. Gustav Erbe, Mrs. Rama Stearns, and John and Patricia Cunningham.

Elementary P.T.A. Tuesday

What's Happening in Sacramento Concerning Education is one discussion topic for the Carmel Elementary P.T.A. meeting on Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock in Sunset School Cafeteria. Mrs. Amy Palmer will give a report from the State P.T.A. Legislative Committee on this subject.

Second topic is What About Math and Science in Carmel? Sidney H. Kalmbach, physics professor at the Navy Postgraduate School will give a report on this subject from material submitted by the Monterey Peninsula Association for the Advancement of Science and Mathematics Education.

Election of officers for the coming year will take place during the meeting. Refreshments will be served and there will be a discussion period.

A Boy For The Penneys

Ten pounds, five ounces was the birth weight of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Penney's son, John Vincent, born at the Peninsula Community Hospital on Tuesday evening at 9:42 o'clock.

Raylyn Penney, John's mother, is the Pine Cone's feature writer. She has a backlog of interviews prepared so that she can devote her time for the next few weeks to the latest edition of her family. Her husband is a member of the editorial staff of the Monterey Peninsula Herald.

Master Penney's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard L. Penney of Moriches, Long Island, New York, and Mrs. Ethelyn Crabbe of Carmel.

Broadman Has Story In School Arts

The March issue of School Arts magazine contains an article by Joseph Broadman, Sunset School art teacher, describing a city planning unit presented to Carmel seventh and eighth grade students.

"The age of adolescence is the most critical for a child in every aspect," is Mr. Broadman's opening statement. Then he tells how he combined his teenage students' desire to be adult with Carmel's discussion of the controversial Livingston master plan.

Sunset seventh and eighth graders studied The Culture of Cities by Lewis Mumford, became aware of Patrick Geddes, Henry Wright and other city planners, asked Lawrence Livingston Jr. questions about his plan for Carmel and obtained Everybody Plans, a book written for school children, from the Baltimore Planning Commission. The film, The Living City, was shown to the two grades.

After this each student was asked to plan a city of nine zones, for 20,000 residents, A railroad, super highway, a lake, river, a range of hills, a marsh and a large city were in the environs.

"Schools, I am happy to say, rated before commercial services in order of importance," reports Mr. Broadman of the students' planning.

Features of some of the cities planned were a garden-apartment city, underground - atom - bomb-proof cities, moving sidewalks, underground parking and a green belt which included "a country club for poor people."

The designs themselves were not so important as the attitudes they developed, continues Mr. Broadman in his article, then ends with the hope that the awareness created in the critical adolescent-age students will mean art produced "for our time and culture."

NORBERG ESCAPES INJURY

Carmel city councilman Gunnar Norberg, 52, escaped without injury Wednesday afternoon when his car was struck broadside on Highway 1. Norberg said he was heading across the street with a green light when a car driven by Mrs. Laura Huntsucker, 49, of North Bend, Oregon, struck him. His car then hit that of Mrs. Hannah Fletcher of Carmel, Vera Guthrie, 16, of North Bend and Pvt. David Guthrie, 20, of Fort Ord, suffered minor injuries in the Huntsucker car but were not hospitalized.

MOON ABOVE THE CYPRESS

*The moon moving above the cypress
Intrudes suddenly upon her reverie
Like an unexpected guest.
Its bland, impersonal presence
Halts the caravan of her thoughts
Straggling across the desert of her loneliness.
Once she had rejoiced in its glittering wonder,
Once when she had shared its lustre
With one who will never come again.*

—LUCIA TRENT

MAGNANIMOUS THE RAIN

*I am the rain, feathering softer plumes of spring
across redundant grass, and now I pass
to lie where roots have livid lain in dreams remembering.*

*I help soil stir
new life December freeze denied,
and barren amethyst
dissolves to mist
that veils in seemly gossamer
the procreant countryside.*

*Let me not take sole credit for the growth regime
Rain wields one instrument of spring's intent.
sun also serves; and we two wake young earth to live her dream.*

—HELEN FAULKNER

THE BALLAD OF THE PENSIONERS

*Once more they find themselves as free as children after school is out.
There is no place where they must be,
no clock can put their day to rout.
They do not rise to move about because they hear a rooster crow, but choose their tasks and never doubt that days grow richer as they go.*

He chooses wood and soon we see a workman who has set about creating from what was a tree, a thing of beauty, that throughout bespeaks a goodly soul. Devout, he works, and all the world may know—who builds with beauty, shall find out his days reflect it as they go.

*She—works with what some call debris,— the contents of a rag-bag stout, to her a silent simile—
so like a bulb, about to sprout, so like a bulb, dust-dab without,
while deep within bright colors glow, to weave her rug, and 'round about her days gain luster as they go.*

*Life was not meant to fritter out,
but joyous to crescendo grow, leaving no room for any doubt days can grow richer as they go.*

Eighth Avenue at Torres
P.O. Box 3293
Carmel-by-the-Sea

The City Council
Carmel-by-the-Sea
California
Attention of
Mr. James Buffington,
Street Commissioner
Gentlemen:

Please be advised that I am opposed to any widening, surfacing, or paving of Eighth Avenue between Junipero and Santa Fe, or to any alteration of the adjacent terrain or contour such as the cutting in on a needed footpath along the southwest corner of Eighth and Torres and, in fact, along the entire south side of Eighth from Torres to Junipero, which was done recently by the Street Department.

I endorse the position taken by the Carmel Pine Cone in its issue of this date.

I trust that the City Council and all our officials will exert all the effort and talent possible to the single purpose of preserving the character of Carmel-by-the-Sea and protecting its natural assets against the aggressions of those who know not what they do or do not care.

It is my hope that the Street Department will continue to maintain this portion of Eighth Avenue properly as has always heretofore been done, i.e., keeping it sprinkled with water in the dry season, free from the dangerous patches of stones there now, and filling the ruts and holes caused by heavy rainfall.

Respectfully yours
Elizabeth M. Niles

Honorable John Chitwood
Mayor, City of Carmel
Carmel, California
Dear Mayor:

I regret very much that due to an extremely tight schedule I was unable to be with you for the "Night in Old Monterey." I was sure up to the last minute that I would be able to break away from another urgent engagement, but it was impossible to do so.

Members of my staff and many legislators have reported to me that the Monterey night was one of the finest affairs ever given in Sacramento—one I am very sorry to have missed.

Mrs. Brown and I are very fond of the Monterey Peninsula and Carmel holds a special attraction for both of us. When the legislative session is over, we hope to visit your community.

Sincerely,
EDMUND G. BROWN,
Governor

School Board Seeking Special J. C. Legislation

cludes the rest of the county. Approval of bond issues to provide for purchase of MPC would be included in the election. All propositions would require a two-thirds vote of the majority.

If the propositions were passed, the county superintendent of schools could call an election of board members for the new district. The board would govern until the new district was annexed to Hartnell.

Mitchell reported that the Pacific Grove board had indicated that it would endorse the first part of the bill but was not enthusiastic about the second. He said the Pacific Grove trustees appeared to favor a peninsula district first and optional annexation later. He added that Monterey officials had implied that they felt a county-wide district premature.

The Carmel superintendent supported the county-wide district on grounds that it would lower the tax rate and provide educational advantages such as a wider range of facilities.

James Burgess New President Of Lions Club

The nominating committee's slate of officers was unanimously elected by Carmel Lions Club members at their meeting on Tuesday evening.

On July 7 James Burgess becomes president; Ernest F. Morehouse, first vice president; Paul Mercurio, second vice president. Dr. James Gilman assumes duties of secretary on the same date; Don Lyons as treasurer; Charles Lunt, Lion Tamer; Walter Boyle, Tail Twister.

Elected to be directors for two years were Charles Seaver and Allen Champe; One year holdover terms, Stanley Ewig and James Buffington.

Also chosen at Tuesday night's meeting were delegates to the Lions district convention at Hoberg's in Lake County on May 14, 15, 16, 17. They are James Burgess, Dr. Gilman, Don Lyons and Ernest Bixler; alternates Vince Torres, George Dear, Fred Stanley, August Nieto and Joe Oenning.

Peter Kutschera, introduced by Lloyd Weer, showed members colored slides of a four-week tour in Europe following the election.

penses for damages will be deducted from this deposit. Any balance left after these deductions to be refunded. Applicants may cancel a permit to use the Forest Theater if they give notice to this effect 30 days prior to the first date they were allocated. Otherwise the city claims the initial $25 deposit.

Users of the Forest Theater must maintain the premises diligently; be responsible for damages and injuries during use and carry public liability insurance; maintain fire prevention equipment; stop all noise at 10:45 o'clock each evening during rehearsals. In addition, the city will decide transfer of rights from one user to another and regain Forest Theater premises if any of the above terms are violated.

A deposit of $115 from advance or first-night ticket sales or from some other resource of the user must be paid to the city by a Forest Theater user immediately after the first performance of a production on the premises. This deposit will be refunded if the Forest Theater is left in orderly and clean condition, if not the $115 will be used to pay the expense of a city cleaning crew. An off-duty police officer is to be employed by each user to regulate traffic at each performance.

The Forest Theater Guild, decided arts commissioners, may renew their lease of basement premises for $1 a year as in previous city leases to this drama group. However, the city will provide a suitable trash receptacle at the Forest Theater-in-the-Ground premises. The guild will be required to place trash in this container which will be emptied by the city once a month. Third new condition of Guild use of the Forest Theater-in-the-Ground is that a visiting committee of the Arts Commission will inspect the premises during the Guild's lease.

check operation and suggest to the city required repairs, maintenance, improvements, etc.

Besides the portrait of John Catlin, other pictures loaned from the permanent collection of the Carmel Art Gallery will be hung in City Hall, arts commissioners decided yesterday afternoon. These include a portrait of a Mexican girl by the late Lee Randolph purchased for the Gallery by Mrs. Douglas McGregor, and a marine by the late Frank Myers presented to the permanent Gallery collection by Mrs. Myers. They also considered for possible city hall display a night scene by the late Charles Rollo Peters, pioneer peninsula artist.

A committee will prepare a report on Chairman Albros area art council idea. Representatives on this council would embrace all divisions of the arts she suggested; musicians, dancers, writers, painters, sculptors, craftsmen and architects. One art commissioner to be on the council with the representatives.

Miss Albros thought this council would create closer harmony among the many arts groups in the area, promote interest in art events and cultural activities, facilitate production of the proposed Arts Festival here.

blocked a driveway. The request was rejected unanimously.

The lodge, owned by Todd Rudd and Ray Berney, is leased and operated by Connie R. Cornelison.

Preliminary applied again January 2, 1959 and was denied, 3-2. Mayor John S. Chitwood and Street Commissioner James C. Buffington voted yes.

The council also approved tree removal requests of Fred Domingo, Mission between Eighth and Ninth, an oak to permit access to driveway; Harold K. Saur, Crespi and Mountain View, oak, for driveway access; Lloyd C. Simpson, Scenic between Ocean and Eighth, acacia, driveway.

Council delayed approval of J. M. Roberts' request for removal of pine at Camino Real and Second, to gain access to a carport, to see if a narrower driveway might avoid the necessity of damaging the tree roots.

After looking over the two lots in the canyon south of the city park land at Mission and Camino Del Monte, which have been offered to the city for $2500, council decided to give themselves more time to think it over.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3881.

cause the American Field Service wants them to return to their schools as seniors and tell fellow students and townspeople about their experiences abroad. This, believes AFS, promotes international friendship.

Jennie, as Commissioner of Social Affairs, is on the Student Council at Carmel High. She is a straight A honor student, and a member of the California Scholarship Federation. Interested in government, she attended Junior Statesmen of America summer school at the end of her freshman year, is a past president and active member of Carmel High JSA chapter and participates in district and state JSA programs. A talented pianist, she was a student of Elayne Lavrans (Mrs. Roy Chanslor) for many years. Jennie has attended Bach Festivals, Music Society, County Symphony and other musical events in Carmel since she was a small child. She likes jazz, parties and picnics, and is a member of Leaders Club.

American AFS exchange students pay their fare abroad, unless, as in some communities, it is paid by community groups. They can go because, during the previous year, a foreign student has attended their school and lived with a family as a guest of their community. This student is brought to the community by AFS. In Carmel, high school students raise the necessary funds to bring a foreign AFS student here each year. In return a local student goes abroad for several months. Jennie is this year's Carmel High summer return student, chosen by AFS as ambassador of American youth.

Eighth Avenue at Torres
P.O. Box 3293
Carmel-by-the-Sea

The City Council
Carmel-by-the-Sea
California
Attention of
Mr. James Buffington,
Street Commissioner
Gentlemen:

Please be advised that I am opposed to any widening, surfacing, or paving of Eighth Avenue between Junipero and Santa Fe, or to any alteration of the adjacent terrain or contour such as the cutting in on a needed footpath along the southwest corner of Eighth and Torres and, in fact, along the entire south side of Eighth from Torres to Junipero, which was done recently by the Street Department.

I endorse the position taken by the Carmel Pine Cone in its issue of this date.

I trust that the City Council and all our officials will exert all the effort and talent possible to the single purpose of preserving the character of Carmel-by-the-Sea and protecting its natural assets against the aggressions of those who know not what they do or do not care.

It is my hope that the Street Department will continue to maintain this portion of Eighth Avenue properly as has always heretofore been done, i.e., keeping it sprinkled with water in the dry season, free from the dangerous patches of stones there now, and filling the ruts and holes caused by heavy rainfall.

Respectfully yours
Elizabeth M. Niles

Honorable John Chitwood
Mayor, City of Carmel
Carmel, California
Dear Mayor:

I regret very much that due to an extremely tight schedule I was unable to be with you for the "Night in Old Monterey." I was sure up to the last minute that I would be able to break away from another urgent engagement, but it was impossible to do so.

Members of my staff and many legislators have reported to me that the Monterey night was one of the finest affairs ever given in Sacramento—one I am very sorry to have missed.

Mrs. Brown and I are very fond of the Monterey Peninsula and Carmel holds a special attraction for both of us. When the legislative session is over, we hope to visit your community.

Sincerely,
EDMUND G. BROWN,
Governor

cludes the rest of the county. Approval of bond issues to provide for purchase of MPC would be included in the election. All propositions would require a two-thirds vote of the majority.

If the propositions were passed, the county superintendent of schools could call an election of board members for the new district. The board would govern until the new district was annexed to Hartnell.

Mitchell reported that the Pacific Grove board had indicated that it would endorse the first part of the bill but was not enthusiastic about the second. He said the Pacific Grove trustees appeared to favor a peninsula district first and optional annexation later. He added that Monterey officials had implied that they felt a county-wide district premature.

The Carmel superintendent supported the county-wide district on grounds that it would lower the tax rate and provide educational advantages such as a wider range of facilities.

James Burgess New President Of Lions Club

The nominating committee's slate of officers was unanimously elected by Carmel Lions Club members at their meeting on Tuesday evening.

On July 7 James Burgess becomes president; Ernest F. Morehouse, first vice president; Paul Mercurio, second vice president. Dr. James Gilman assumes duties of secretary on the same date; Don Lyons as treasurer; Charles Lunt, Lion Tamer; Walter Boyle, Tail Twister.

Elected to be directors for two years were Charles Seaver and Allen Champe; One year holdover terms, Stanley Ewig and James Buffington.

Also chosen at Tuesday night's meeting were delegates to the Lions district convention at Hoberg's in Lake County on May 14, 15, 16, 17. They are James Burgess, Dr. Gilman, Don Lyons and Ernest Bixler; alternates Vince Torres, George Dear, Fred Stanley, August Nieto and Joe Oenning.

Peter Kutschera, introduced by Lloyd Weer, showed members colored slides of a four-week tour in Europe following the election.
